3 Counties Agree to Work for Sabine—Galveston Road

BEACH ROAD IS GIVEN SUPPORT

Conference Endorses Proposal by Vaughan

MODERATE COST

Only Proviso Is Connections And Ferry at Bolivar

BY R. O. ZOLLINGER
Managing Editor, The News
A through road from Port Arthur to Galveston via Sabine Pass appeared today as a possibility.

In an informal conference at High Island yesterday county commissioners of three counties—Jefferson, Chambers and Galveston—placed preliminary stamp of approval on the proposition and set official forces at work to achieve what has now resolved itself into a definite goal.

Concretely stated, Commissioner W. A. Vaughan of Precinct 4 declared he will complete 21 miles of alled road to the Chambers county line from a point opposite the beach bath-house at the end of the present ridge, road, provided Chambers county will carry its end of the work through its narrow panhandle fronting the beach to the Galveston county line, in turn to be taken up by Galveston county to Point Bolivar, and further provided that ferry accommodations from the mainland at Point Bolivar giving, three to five trips daily according to reasonable demands will be provided to Galveston and the island at a minimum charge of $1. per automobile.

Optimistic of Success
Attending the meeting were: Galveston county: E. B. Holman, judge of commissioners' court and commissioners James A. Roddeker, W. J. Stoner and Victor Danton; and L. W. Reed, chairman of the industrial committee of the Galveston Chamber of Commerce and C. E. McNeill, manager of the Young Men's Progressive League.

Chambers County: Commissioners Fred Webb and A. R. Reiter.

Jefferson County: R. B. Johnson, judge of commissioners' court and commissioners W. A. Vaughan, Charles W. Hughes and W. O. Turner.

The meeting organized itself into discussion in the High Island hotel, with frequent consultation of maps of the district involved.

From the view of the county officials participating the proposal deserves serious, and mutual pledges were exchanged that each county would do its utmost to meet its share of the project.

Two hours of discussion followed every county representative present heartily in accord with the proposal.

Commissioner Turner of Jefferson county, precinct 4, early in the meeting made it clear that there was only one proposal before the session. This was the Port Arthur to Sabine Pass to High Island to Point Bolivar route.

Matter of a second highway linking the north county to High Island via Hamphshire was purely in a tentative way.

5 Face Prison Terms on Conspiracy Charge

EL PASO, Aug. 8.—Five persons were facing short terms in the penitentiary today upon conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust law in connection with the railway short-men's strike in 1922.

A federal supreme court mandate received here sustained the conviction of C. C. Stanley, J. F. and J. L. Donke, J. E. Williams and J. B. Younkers. The five men, some officials of the striking railway unions, were sentenced several months ago upon charges of conspiring to obstruct interstate commerce.

The defendants were notified to report Monday to start serving a sentence.

VILLAGE PLATTE, La., Aug. 8.—Simultaneous with his hanging at noon today, Eusebe Vidrine's "confessions," a book detailing the "murderer's" life of crime, including five murders, was released for distribution to the public.

Vidrine, who is 26 years old, will be executed for the murder of Robert L. Wiggins, son of the former sheriff of Evangeline parish. He has confessed to four other slayings, how-

Negress Shows Cops Thing or Two On Racing

AN Olympic speed record in which Fannie Jackson, negress, lowered all previous paces in the great Ethiopian sweepstakes from Third to Eleventh on Dallas street, was witnessed by a privileged few late Thursday afternoon.

Fannie's fame as a sprinter was known to Officer Brown of the police department, so when he came upon her in the Third street alley, he said: "Alright, Fannie, it won't do you any good to run for you won't get away from me this time."

Fannie blushed with memories of her previous victory, got her 150 pounds of areopos in a state of momentum, and, with a 20-foot start, left the officer. For eight long blocks the race was staged with Fannie setting a pole position pace. Endurance won over speed, however, and Fannie finally tumbled in a heap where she waited until the "hoodlum" wagon arrived.

AVERS ORANGE TO KEEP PACT

White Says Road Here To Be Built Sooner

That Orange county will keep its agreement to build Port Arthur highway in the meeting of the improved highway between the two cities and actual work on the project should be in progress by next January 1, as the assurance given yesterday by Mayor Sol M. White of Orange, here on business.

Mayor White with Manager Burge of the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping and Chairman Henry Lohmann of the good roads committee went over via automobile the entire route of the Port Arthur side of the project.

The Orange mayor expressed surprise that so much had been done by Port Arthur in building its share of the road.

Major White indicated the past election had been favorable for, those at Orange who favor the disposal of the Orange-Port Arthur road as the first improvement of the new commissioners court of the county there.

DES MOINES IS HIT BY TWISTER

None Reported Hurt When Storm Cripples City

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 8.—A long distance telephone message from Des Moines, Iowa, today said:

"One of the worst storms in the history of Des Moines struck this city at 3:15 a. m. today."

"Wire communication with the outside world was severed. Trees and telephone poles were snapped at their base. House blown off houses and buildings."

No Casualties Reported
"So far no casualties have been reported."

"All tents at Camp Dodge where several thousand soldiers are camped were blown away."

"Practically every telephone line in the city was out of business and all electric light wires are down."

"At Granter where Catholic Boy Scouts are camped, their tents were blown away. No one was reported injured."

"Crops were reported beaten into the ground."

COTTON FUTURES BREAK WHEN REPORT MADE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Following the issuance of the government report regarding the condition of the cotton crop at 7.4 per cent of normal as of August 1, a figure about in line with expectations, cotton futures broke $1 to $1.50 a bale on speculative selling and profit taking on a heavy scale. Later a portion of the losses were recovered.

KLAN DENOUNCED BY LAFOLLETTE

Senator 'Unalterably Opposed' to Secret Order

TENETS PLAYED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Robert M. LaFollette met the Ku Klux Klan issue today with an open denunciation of the order by name.

"I am unalterably opposed to the evident purposes of the secret organization known as the Ku Klux Klan, as disclosed by its public acts," the independent presidential candidate declared.

"It cannot long survive."

Says Klan Foredoomed
"Relying upon the sound judgment and good sense of the people it is my opinion that such a movement is foredoomed. It has within its own body the seeds of its death."

LaFollette's first official statement of the issue was given in a letter to Robert F. Scripps, editorial director of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, who wrote the senator suggesting that his position should be made known because of the national prominence—justly or unjustly—given the question.

Heretofore, LaFollette has shunned all Klan queries into the background because he believed—and still believes as he says in his letter to Scripps—that the "all embracing" issue of this campaign "is to break the combined power of the pirate monopoly system over the political life of the American people."

Declares Religious Issue
"LaFollette expressed regret that 'questions involving religious opinion' has been raised. Even after the republican convention wrote its religious freedom plank and the democratic convention placed its bitter fight over the Klan plank, LaFollette preferred his contention with a platform 'that took no cognizance of the Klan issue or religion. He stressed economic life and remedies."

In this his first open statement on the issue, LaFollette quotes Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Jefferson to support his stand. He recalls a letter written by Lincoln in 1835 in which the Civil war president declared that certain forces at that time were apparently attempting to change the constitution to make it read: "All men are created equal except negroes and foreigners, and Catholics."

DEMAND PROBE OF ICE PRICES

Dallas Women Take Fight To Attorney General

ALSTIN, Aug. 8.—The fight which is being made by the Housewives League of Dallas against the increase of ice prices by dealers in that city has been taken to the attorney general's department, it was learned Friday. Request has been made to the attorney general that his department make investigation, it being hinted by Mrs. J. G. Hilbert, chairman of the ice investigating committee of the league, that an efficient probe might develop that there has been a violation of the state's anti-trust laws.

Mrs. Hilbert, it is stated, has called attention to the sudden rise in the ice prices, she alleging that the increased prices became effective at the same time, and charge is agreed that there might have been an agreement reached on sending up the quotations.

Officials of the attorney general's department for reasons of policy refused to discuss the matter, and did not indicate what action would be taken on the request for an investigation.

Baker Arrests Three At El Vista Dance

Three men were arrested by Constable Baker and Deputy Johnson last night on an investigation tour of the dance hall at El Vista, detained by people living in that neighborhood who charged promiscuous conduct and disturbance of the peace.

The three arrested as the ring-leaders in the reported disturbances were brought to the police station where they were held for several hours and warned against further offenses from complaint at the dance hall.

Four Absentee Votes

Four absentee voters in the primary election Aug. 23 have filed out applications with City Collector G. E. Lomas. The latest of these are William Bergman and Jake Meyer, who expect to be in Hot Springs, Ark. during the election. Others, filling applications are Mrs. Bertha Zell and Simon Dubon.

New Civil Service Ordinance Is Passed By City Commission

Outlines 15 Charges Regarded as Indicating Another Effort to Discharge City Clerk Miles

Through the reading and passing of the ordinance, the amendment of the civil service ordinance now needs only one publication to become city law through action by city commission today.

At the city hall the amendment was regarded as a step to pave the way for discharge of City Clerk E. H. Miles following announcement by Mayor Logan that the city commission would keep on firing Miles "until it takes like vaccination."

The amendment is a voluminous document comprising six large-sized typewritten pages detailing 15 grounds for discharge of civil service employees, but also shakes up the personnel of the civil service board. Under the new ordinance, which was rushed through three readings to final passage, civil service employees may be discharged for anything from "disobedience" or "disrespectful conduct, profanity or vulgarity toward any person in a public place" to "maliciousness of city officers or employees."

Members of the new civil service board are Prof. J. M. Latham, head of the bookkeeping department at Port Arthur college; Dr. Pat Reed, city health officer; and Fred Deed, head of the hospital board and general superintendent of the Texas Cattle pens. Heretofore the board has had four members, but Mayor Logan claimed the reduction to three was made in order that two members might constitute a quorum.

Comments by Mayor Logan on the reasons for changes in the civil service board personnel were taken to indicate immediate action is contemplated under the ordinance. George M. Sims, superintendent of city schools, has been left off the new board, because his residence is just outside of the city limits, might disqualify him, the mayor explained.

Two Names Omitted
Both the postmaster and the president of Port Arthur college, heretofore civil service board members, are not named as members of the new board.

Postmaster S. J. Dunn is a good man," Logan explained, "but he couldn't serve until he received pay."

B. E. Quinn Takes Stand For Local Island Road

That Port Arthur should be considered in the High Island road as well as Beaumont and that in the future when bonds are voted it should be distinctly stipulated where the road money voted are to be applied so as to not go somewhere not originally intended, was the gist of a statement made this morning by Representative B. E. Quinn and now a candidate for county judge.

Quinn says if the Beaumont idea of routing the road via Hamphshire and Big Hill is carried out it will be necessary to continue the McFaddin road to McFaddin's beach and build a road from Port Arthur to LaBelle connecting both with the Beaumont-High Island road.

LOEB'S DOCTOR PUT ON STAND

Physician Testifies Defendant Always 'Abnormal'

SUBJECT TO 'FITS'

University Students Narrate Specific Incidents

CRIMINAL COURT HOUSE, CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The defense in the Leopold-Loeb murder hearing today sprang a surprise when it shelled temporarily its lay witnesses and placed Dr. Robert Bruce Armstrong, family physician of the millionaire family on the stand.

The physician came here from Charlevoix, Michigan, where the parents of Richard Loeb, co-defendant with Nathan Leopold Jr., have their palatial summer home.

Dr. Loeb's stand
Young Loeb, the doctor said, displayed nervous symptoms which led him to believe he was slightly "abnormal."

Leonard Levy, University of Michigan graduate and fraternity brother of Loeb, told of seeing Loeb twice on two occasions. Loeb, he said, frothed at the mouth and became rigid.

Levy testified Loeb was nervous and rather childish.

On cross examination Crowe emphasized the fact that Levy's estimate of Loeb was based almost wholly on the fact that Dickie was younger than other students at the university.

Dickie Intoxicated
Crowe also drew from the witness an admission that when Dickie frothed at the mouth he was intoxicated.

Theodore Chinsberg, graduate of the University of Chicago said Loeb was very nervous and under a tension, and that he smoked constantly.

Schubert also said that Loeb was "a little bit of the times that he never knew whether Loeb was just a little bit of a piker."

Wallace Brewster, graduate of the University of Chicago and that during the four years of his acquaintance with Leopold he had heard the latter enunciate his superman philosophy and tried to pattern himself after him.

Loeb's Emotionless
Bishop displayed little emotion when told of his wife's death. Chicago Times told newspaper men, the viewed her body a the morgue without confusion, the chief said. Officers this morning stated, however, that he "smiled very freely today."

Chief of Police T. J. Connelley, who is in charge of the investigation, said he was not sure whether the "smiling" was an indication of "a happy heart" from witnesses are in possession of Terrific will be offered to the grand jury when they meet.

Bishop, officers said, passed a restless night at the county jail, and eating sparingly at his meals.

The investigation again brings Richard Cambreck, a negro, into the spotlight. Cambreck figured as a grand jury witness in the McNeal case. In the present investigation it was revealed today that Cambreck, living near the Bishop home, turned in the fire alarm and summoned officers to the scene.

Estrangement Described
Emotional cross-currents in the mind of Mrs. J. E. Bishop are shown in a letter to her son, opened by Beaumont police today. In the letter Mrs. Bishop describes her estrangement from her husband, and shows, police said, her climax of mental confusion.

"He woke in a violent start Sunday morning," Mrs. Bishop writes in the letter, "and after going to see Edith that afternoon told me I was not the woman he could love. I was afraid, the woman wrote to her son, and on Monday afternoon Bishop packed his trunk and left."

This letter, a disconcerted affair covering several pages and seemingly written at different moments under mental strain, together with the report of a neighbor that the scream of a woman in a hot room was heard just before a car drove away from the Bishop home, 1175 Goliad street, early Wednesday morning were the mysterious developments today in the mystery murder.

Chief Working Case
Chief of Police T. J. Connelley has been working personally on the case day and night. Police are confident that these latest angles confirm their claim that Mrs. Bishop was killed and fire set to the house that every vestige of the crime might be wiped out. Statements of two persons who heard the scream and the shot have been taken by T. J.

Says Husband's Temper Bad
"Bishop has a violent temper," the woman wrote to her son, "and I do not know what he might do." This was written Monday, and before seeing the letter, Mrs. Bishop inserted several additional sheets.

"I don't know what might happen to me. My tabulars are in the safety deposit box at the City National bank. Everything is yours, but never make know what is in there."

The part that in Mrs. Bishop's mind as she was confronted with the great problem of her life is indicated in the words, "If anything should happen to me," that commences one of the pages in the rambling letter now held by T. J. The letter was found in Mrs. Bishop's pocketbook.

Aggies to Banquet
All Texas A. & M. men in Port Arthur will gather at the Newport cafe Monday night to recall the "good old days" in Aggieland. The regulation bad menu of Shish hall at College Station has been promulgated for the comers. All desiring registrations are asked to call 125 J or 1030 W.

Dead Woman Describes Last Meeting

'LOVED ANOTHER WOMAN'

Scores of Affidavits To Be Offered Grand Jury

By Staff Correspondent
Arrangements were being made this morning to call the grand jury of the 35th district court together for a special session to investigate the death of Mrs. J. E. Bishop, age 45, whose body was found in a blazing house at 1175 Goliad street, Beaumont, early Thursday morning. Mrs. Bishop had been shot, her clothing had then been saturated with oil and the house set on fire, according to the officers.

Chief of Police Reid Teras was in communication with both Judge O'Brien of the 35th district court and Charles Stroock, foreman of the grand jury at Beaumont, this morning. No time for the session had been set, although tentative plans were made to meet on Monday morning.

Entrusted Husband Held
J. E. Bishop, husband of the slain woman, is being held by police in connection with the case. The couple separated Monday. Bishop was arrested shortly after the crime was committed at his lodger's house on College street. The motor of his car was still warm, and he had not dressed for bed, the police said. There were stains upon his clothing which officers believe to have been caused by blood, they said today. Bishop maintains that he was home since 8 o'clock Thursday evening and did not leave the house.

TWO MEN CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY ON JURY

Special to The News.

BEAUMONT, Texas, Aug. 8.—B. M. Hunter and E. A. Hagan both spent anniversaries in the jury box yesterday morning.

Hunter had been married ten years and had made plans to celebrate the occasion. He celebrated by listening to evidence all day, and since the jury could not agree until the night in the grand jury room, Hagan had a birthday and he too, expected to celebrate it, but also was forced to stay at the court house. Two scheduled celebrations were therefore postponed to later date.

ONE MAN STILL TAKEN IN RAIR

BEAUMONT, Texas, Aug. 8.—A still and outfit capable of turning out two barrels of whisky a day was taken by deputy sheriffs here yesterday at Gibson's Lake near Helix. Nine gallons of whisky was taken at the time, and one man arrested, charged with manufacturing.

REPORTS TIRE THEFT

11 Sub-Committees For Women in Fair

There will be 11 sub-committees in charge of many divisions for the activities of the women at the Port Arthur fair this fall. Mrs. Young, chairman of the general committee and one of the 30 fair directors, announced today.

That exhibits and activities of interest to women will be made one of the strong features of the fair is the plan now Mrs. Young says. Among the divisions of activities of interest to women which will be a separate unit of the fair are domestic science, culinary, textile, arts and crafts, canning and preserving, flowers and bird exhibits. A baby show will also be a big feature.

Bonds Forfeited by Judge R. A. Shivers

Several bond forfeitures were made and additional fines imposed in police court today by Judge R. A. Shivers because of failure of defendants to be at their trials within the five-day period allowed by the city charter.

Fred White, assistant city attorney, pointed out to the day the arrest is made constructive one of the five. That some defendants begin their five-day count on the day after being arrested seemed to be the habit, White said.

CASE AGAINST DETECTIVE INDEFINITELY POSTPONED

The case against Detective X. Q. Brundage of the police department, whose bond was forfeited Wednesday morning when the officer could not appear at his trial before Judge Robertson in justice court on an assault and battery charge, was postponed indefinitely this morning.

Brundage came before Judge Robertson and said he had a number of cases which he had been unable to appear at. He was not going to appear at Beaumont. Until these are disposed of, no effort will be made to have the trial of the officer, Judge Robertson indicated.

Identifies Car Stolen Early During Week

While drinking in a drug store this morning, J. L. Bourgeois glanced out saw three young men in a car, and had a hunch the car was one stolen from him a few nights ago.

Running out he followed the car to where it soon parked and identified it as his own, though the number plates had been stolen. Police Chief Cornsman was notified and the three young men who said they were from Port Neches, and two of them, Bourgeois, were arrested. Police Captain Fox is working on the case.

The boys stated they had bought the car at Port Neches, and denying any knowledge of its being stolen property.

MARKETS

WALL STREET JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—With news from Europe indicating the early action of the Federal Reserve Board, a cut in the New York rediscount rate to three per cent and the announcement of the National Reserve plan on very favorable terms to stockholders, the market made an early show of strength but the failure of the majority of banks to respond more than half heartily to the news discouraged sellers and the early afternoon witnessed a substantial decline. This was led by U. S. East Iron Pipe, the stock giving indications of poor digestion.

Interest naturally was focused on the stock of roads going into the hands of the Federal Reserve Board, which were reorganized in line with the proposed exchange ratios. With expectations that National City's dividend would be increased with the merger, the stock ran up to the point.

East Iron Pipe broke over five points in the last hour apparently on news which said this precipitated a general decline in industrials while the stock also suffered. Steel went to 168 and after the first burst of selling the market again quieted down to the close.

The market closed lower.

SHRINERS PLAN FETES AT MEET

Temples to Vie With Each Other in Program

CALVESTON, Aug. 3.—Ancient Arabic order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, at Allalaband-by-the-sea today viewed, with considerable satisfaction, the program for the remainder of their session which is to end August 14.

Today they spent in quiet but they blossomed forth tonight with a visit to the beach resorts and a dance at one of the pavilions. On Wednesday the stunts are scheduled to begin with Jerusalem Temple, New Orleans, blazing the trail and Robert P. Spangenberg, chief ruban, directing operations. On Thursday Alamo Temple, San Antonio, expects to outdo the efforts of the nobles from New Orleans with a program which noble X. Callahan has thus far concealed. A street dance with bands from temples at New Orleans and Galveston furnishing the music will furnish the climax.

On Friday, when a large delegation from Arabia temple, Houston, is expected, the day's festivities will be brought to a climax with a parade at night. The program calls for five bands from the temples at New Orleans, San Antonio, El Paso and Galveston, all nobles in white robes and the various patrols in Oriental garb. A juvenile band of forty-five pieces, fostered by El Mina Temple, Galveston, will lead it. About 1,000 individuals are expected to participate.

FARM PLEDGES TO BE LEFT OUT

President Coolidge Refuses To Make Bid

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—President Coolidge will refuse to make a special bid for the farmers vote in his speech of acceptance, basing it on promises of legislation providing for huge sums of federal aid to boost the prices of their products.

That fact was made known today by members of the senate farm lobby, who to the present administration have been in contact with the president over this phase of his speech.

When the president reached the point in his speech in which he wished to deal with the farmers' problem, he found himself in a quandary, so he called some of the leading republican senators from the agricultural states to the White House for counsel and advice.

After a free and full discussion, it was agreed that senators limit their aid to the president should make no "wildcat" promises merely to catch the votes of the farmers.

He will not lend his support to such measures as the Norris-Sinclair bill or the McNary-Haugen bill, providing for federal aid in setting up agencies to buy and sell farmers' products and thus control the market to insure a profit.

Await Establishment Of New Air Base

WASHINGTON, August 3.—The American round the world fliers will remain at Reykjavik, Iceland until new bases can be established along the Greenland coast which are "consistent with the safety and success of the flight," the air service was advised today by radio from Reykjavik.

Lieutenant Brantford said he was negotiating with the American government to attempt penetration of the ice to establish an emergency base on the east coast, in case the Danish supply ship Gertrude, which should sail to reach Angmagssalik, is finally picked as a base.

Bert Hissell, advance officer, said he was trying to establish an emergency base near Cape Farewell, the extreme southern tip of Greenland, as possible. Hissell also reported landing at Ekalluit, near Igloolik on the west coast, which is too dangerous because of ice.

Aged Marriage Makes Problem for State

AUSTIN, Aug. 3.—Romance in which an 84-year-old veteran of the State Confederate home, and a woman of the State Confederate home whose age is 70, figured, has presented an unusual problem to the state board of control for solution. The aged couple were married five weeks ago and withdrew from the respective state homes in which they had resided a number of years. They went west to spend their honeymoon with relatives. Today they reappeared in Austin, separately, and asked to be reinstated in their former quarters. After their withdrawal from the state institutions their places were promptly filled from a long waiting list. The question now arises shall the authorities be readmitted at once or be forced to go in waiting lines and possibly never again be wards of the state.

If Director Wants Dinosaur, It's Up to Brown to Get It

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 3.—Not all the bones of the silver screen appear upon "its surface." By no means.

Consider "The Lost World," Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's story now being filmed at First National studios under supervision of Earl Hedson.

Trumphet in the east was a lion tamer and an explorer. The present intent is that should they find steady employment at their present salaries, their respective earnings would be $30,000, $11,000, $14,250 and $12,000 per year.

But they do not, as do some couple of thousand other seekers of motion picture work, appear soliciting employment at the studio casting office. They must be sought—and found.

That brings us to our hero, Charles K. Brown, purchasing agent for First National.

Let directors be as unreasonable as they may in their property requests. Brown must fill them. Then, after Brown has secured the country and obtained a pecuniary, for instance, overnight, the director changes his mind and decides the security should be a lava monster. Brown smiles and, without halting production, appears with the lava monster.

Perhaps severest test is being given Brown in the present picture. Not only must he supply things of the known world, but also of the "lost world."

The script called for several breathing, fighting dinosaurs, an animal which all the world (including cinema directors) known is utterly extinct.

"Let Brown worry about that," said the director.

The dinosaurs appeared on the lot at the scheduled time.

Other properties which the purchasing agent obtained (only he can know how) for the picture were:

A chukawalla; wasps and bees; two Egyptian mummies; an Indian god and effigies thereof; alligators; red back; a hippopotamus; prehistoric skulls, skeletons and bones; all remnants of a lost world; eight different kinds of monkey and one baboon; two pigmy ostriches; a mace; an owl.

This is part of the list for the present production.

"But the hardest assignment I ever had," says Brown, "was furnishing a pair of ice skates. Imagine that for a job in Los Angeles. After tracing recent arrivals, finally I found a (family recently come here from Iowa. There were the skates, up stairs in the attic."

"WHEN A MAN'S A MAN"
Harold Bell Wright's novel, "When a Man's a Man," is now showing at the Cameo theater.

The theme of the story has to do with the making of a man—rather the making of a woman. An eastern millionaire finds himself dubbed a "tallor's dummy"—even by his own sweetheart. He decides to make a man of himself and win the admiration and respect of his friends. He leaves his palatial home, dons old clothes, starts life anew in the cattle country of Arizona—and makes good!

John Bowers is given this role to

"LOYAL LIVES"

"Loyal Lives," a story of devotion—the devotion to service of Daniel O'Brien, letter carrier—starts today at the Strand theater.

His struggle on his small salary to provide for his family and to rear a wife found on his doorstep are told in "Loyal Lives." In return for his kindness to a widowed mother, her son, a mail robber, forces a marked $20 bill taken from the mails on O'Brien—when he is injured in service and retired. O'Brien is arrested. His son is forced to drop his dreams to be an engineer, and goes to work as a railway mail clerk. Two attempts at robbery follow—one on a mail train, the other on a post office. O'Brien is cleared by his length in catching the thief. Brady, Tom O'Hara, son of O'Brien's friend, who was the only one to stand by them in their trouble, marries Peggy, despite parental objections.

"THE FIGHTING COWARD"
Starring Cullen Landis "The Fighting Coward" comes to the Peoples today. The story tells of a debauched, inexperienced lad, changed from a cringing coward to a conqueror whose reputation gives the length of the land and whose physical power caused him to shrink. Landis comes across Mungler and he is determined to discover his operations. With Mungler and his wife Mary who is disconsolate and spiteful.

"THE HATE TRAIL"
Sergeant Blain has been assigned by his chief to border duty on "The Hate Trail," and ordered to wipe out the "Hate Trail" runners that have sprung up and at the same time destroy their checks. The first cabin he comes to be approached cautiously, only to find it occupied by a baby boy who has been deserted by his parents. He takes this little tot to an Indian couple, Panting Cougar and his wife Moon Face, and asks them to raise the little fellow for him. Later he comes across Mungler and he is determined to discover his operations. With Mungler and his wife Mary who is disconsolate and spiteful.

RYCADE OIL COMPANY WELL GOOD FOR 3,200

Special to The News.
ORANGE, Aug. 3.—Staging a complete come-back, the RyCADE Oil company's E State No. 2 after making a strong initial flow and then becoming stopped up was administered with a 4 1/2-inch line and Thursday was making 3,200 barrels daily under a choke.

The pressure of the well and the depth of the oil sand had led men to believe this well will be good for 10,000 barrels if rigged up where it can be turned loose.

Local city and county officials, civic and patriotic organizations, and religious and educational bodies are being urged to join in the demonstration.

BRYAN WORKING ON HIS SPEECH

Will Be Notified Formally After Davis Told

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 3.—Gov. Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska, will be formally notified of his nomination as the democratic candidate for vice president by Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, at the University of Nebraska Memorial stadium on the night of August 18, a week after John W. Davis, an official of the party's choice for president, it was stated today.

Bryan is reported making good progress with his speech of acceptance. He has been working on it for several weeks.

He expects to be furnished an advance copy of Mr. Davis' acceptance speech, which will be delivered at Clarksville, W. Va., next Monday evening. With this in hand, he probably will be enabled to put the finishing touches on his own speech in a short time.

C. A. Lord, of Lincoln, and T. S. Allen, democratic state chairman, have charge of the notification ceremony at the new half million dollar stadium. The stands have a seating capacity of more than 30,000, and Allen predicts that they will be filled. He also announced that the notification and acceptance speeches will be broadcast from several middle western radio stations.

BUSINESS SECTION OF TRAWICK BURNS

NACOGDOCHES, Aug. 3.—The entire business portion of Trawick, a village fifteen miles west of Nacogdoches on the T. & N. O. railroad, was wiped out by fire of unknown origin, which started in the store of J. H. Trawick and spread to those of H. G. Pearce, T. Y. Blackburn and W. J. Chancellor.

Part of the post office equipment and mail in the Chancellor store were saved. Most of the contents of all the buildings were destroyed.

Twelve in the church. Sixteen were hospitalized Sunday afternoon. The slugging during the meeting was led by Messrs. Homer and Horace Jackson, twin brothers, of Waco.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THERE IS THAT SCATTERETH AND YET INCREASETH; AND THERE IS THAT WHICH WITHHOLDETH MORE THAN IS MEET, BUT IT TENDETH TO POVERTY.—PROV. 11:24.

The Editorial Mind

Dr. Frank Crane's Editorials

THE WORLD GOES ON

In spite of what we do the world goes on.

Men may come and men may go and each generation thinks that its interests are eternal; but the world has no interests that last except those that continue from generation to generation.

We have always had the conviction that Nature is more interested in the institution than in individuals.

That is why we have taken institutions so seriously, have contended for them and have been willing to fight for them.

Knowing that his time here is so short, man has always clung greedily to the things which remain, has always built his hopes around the permanencies.

It has always been his desire to find those satisfactions which are permanent.

In the end all mortalities are nothing but the permanencies.

We often tell the young to save their money because we feel that capital is permanent, while the satisfactions of the moment are fleeting.

Therefore men give as sacrifices the pleasures of today for the more or less problematical joys of tomorrow.

There is such a thing as carrying this too far, as tomorrow may never come. A sane balance between the pleasures of today and those that are still to come is what is needed by the sane man.

It is the tendency of youth to see today only and to look upon old age as a negligible probability.

Against this tendency the experience of the old breaks itself in vain.

It has always been the desire of mankind to have the fulness and powers of youth together with the wisdom of old age. Unfortunately they do not go together.

We never learn how to live, nor the value of life, until we are ready to die and then it does us no good.

It is a singular thing that all men live as they were to live forever, yet all men, some time or other, must die.

In New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Hell's Kitchen, one of the most notorious gang-brooding spots in all New York, is a scene.

The boom of pocket cannons and the clang of patrol weapons is replaced with the tawdry rattle of cigarette machines and the harmony of ballroom quartets.

The noisiest note in the kitchen now is the clash of colors of bodacious and plaited daughters strutting out to a Saturday night tip.

Where once predominated slinking figures in midnight clothes, with cane pulled far down over nervous eyes, the cake-eaters, now hold sway.

Hell's Kitchen's new generation mimics the dress and manners of society.

In the old days, a murder in the kitchen was only cause for passing comment. Now it creates as much of a furore as it would in any small town.

Hell's Kitchen earned its name many years ago and was applied to the territory between Tenth and Eleventh avenues north of 24th street.

Hell's Kitchen, itself was a ramshackle frame house in the middle of the block, where the gangsters met and hatched their plots. It has since been torn down.

The "Club of Blood" was the name of one of the picturesque saloons in the days when crime flourished in the kitchen and a life was worse no more than a word of contradiction.

Only one old-fashioned custom holds in the kitchen. It is the typical Irish wake, the "sitting up" ceremony in which the dead.

PRAGUE, Aug. 5.—Many of the religious holidays that were inherited from the Austrian empire are eliminated on the calendar that has been revised by the Czech-Slovakian government. A surplus of holidays was hurting business conditions in Czechoslovakia, according to the government authorities.

DISCOVER 1150 COIN

ARMSTRONG, Mo., Aug. 5.—A coin of green gold, bearing the date of 1150 and the image of Queen Mary, has been turned up by the plow of P. W. Shiffert, a farmer living near here. The coin also is marked by a cross and 10 stars and by a ring soldered to it.

BOBBED HAIR CREATES RIOT IN MEXICAN CITY

Bobbed hair has invaded Mexico. Mexico is a latin-Indian republic. Mexican girls are noted for their raven tresses. They are noted at least in their youth for their beauty of face and figure. Now that the bobbed head has made its appearance under aztec skies a revolt is threatened on the part of the male brute.

War on bobbed heads began in the City of Mexico. Now it has spread to other parts of the republic. Bobbed haired girls were attacked in Tampico. Two glorious beauties appeared on the bathing beach at Tampico, minus their raven tresses when they were rushed by a crowd of young men. One girl threw herself in the water and swam away while the other was saved by the presence of an army officer who threatened to run his sword through the body of the mob.

Medical school sessions in the city of Mexico have been suspended. Bobbed haired girl students created a riot and the doors of the building had to be closed. Now the bobbers threaten to stage a parade in Mexico City and they are going to ask President Obregon to make it a militaristic event.

A New York business man thrashed his wife because she bobbed her hair without his permission. A police officer dragged the husband before a near-by judge who inflicted a heavy fine announcing at the same time that woman has the ballot, that she is the owner of her hair and that she doesn't have to ask permission of her husband to have it bobbed.

All the wild men and all the wild women of the world appear to be on the rampage this year.

DID YOU KNOW?

That John W. Davis is three-fourths Scotch-Irish and the balance Dutch and Welch.

That Governor Charles Bryan is one half Scotch-Irish and the other half English.

That the forebears of John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan settled in this country in colonial days before the coming of the war of the American Revolution.

That Robert M. LaFollette is of French and Scotch origin. He is the grandson of a French Huguenot and his mother was a Ferguson whose direct ancestors came from Scotland. That Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts has decided to be a candidate for re-election. Running as a straight democrat will be given the endorsement of Senator Barton K. Wheeler and the LaFollette managers.

That Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas will give loyal support to Coolidge and Daves, thus breaking away from the LaFollette congressional bloc.

That the leaders of the LaFollette party in Kansas look upon Senator Capper as a fake radical, training with the LaFollette hares and running with the republican hounds.

That this open break with the LaFollette forces came after Capper's Weekly gave glowing editorial support to Coolidge and Daves and the republican platform.

That Alexander Kahn of New York, a financial agent, has been appointed to set two million dollars from the labor unions to swell the LaFollette campaign fund.

That W. N. Doak of Iowa, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, has assured President Coolidge that his brotherhood would not endorse LaFollette and its members would be left free to vote as they please.

That Walter F. Brown of Ohio, for years active in Ohio politics, says that seven out of every ten votes cast for Senator LaFollette in his state, would be by those who ordinarily voted the democratic ticket.

That Senator James E. Watson of Indiana in an interview, said he did not see how President Coolidge could fail for re-election.

That Senator Watson, in 1922, predicted the overwhelming defeat of Woodrow Wilson in 1912 and in 1916 Watson repeated his prediction.

That a majority of the electoral college essential to election, is 266 votes and that Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, a Coolidge advisor, is puzzled where to get them.

That thirty-three states will elect United States senators this year and Senator James E. Watson says the chances are he is the present lineup in the upper house of congress of fifty-one republicans, forty-three democrats and two farmer-laborites would be preserved.

That democratic leaders say there are only two northern democrats who are before the people for re-election—Thomas J. Walsh of Montana and David I. Walsh of Massachusetts. Walsh of Montana has a walk-over and in Massachusetts the gamblers are betting that David I. Walsh will be his own successor.

The Lowbrow
By Wallace M. Baylis
The lowbrow came, with rabbit ear, And whisked the maiden off afar, Sans chaperone, for he, as yet, Had read no books on etiquette.

Before they knew it, midnight came, And then this "bore" took his "dame" Into a white-tiled eating place And told the girl to "feed her face."

For talking he would never get hung, He let his arm work for his tongue; But what few words he used were "Nice, Like, 'Girl, you're easy on the eye.'"

A wee bit crumpled, to her door The maid returned at half-past four, And as she tiptoed up the walk She murmured, "How that man can talk."

Although they swear they think it's rough, How girls do love this low-brow stuff!

TO ECONOMIZE:
THE PRESIDENT OF A COMPANY
THE BUYER AT A DISTANCE
THE SALES PEOPLE AT THE COUNTER

Is it good business to bother with small economies?

"What's the use of trying to save every little thing?" asked a worried business man the other day. "While I am looking after petty savings I lose good business that would have made me more money than I saved."

The fault in that man's business is not in his principle of economy but in his method of applying the principle.

The detailed accounting of small items is not the business of a high priced executive nor of the man who should be going after business. The president of a bank does not account for typewriter ribbons nor does the sales manager of a business check up on postage stamps.

But the trend toward economy must come from the top and must be the consistent practice of every man in the organization, from top to bottom. Every employee must feel that small economies are practical—not at all because the firm is petty and miserly, but because the firm is so sound and well-managed that waste will not be tolerated.

The NERVOUS WRECK by E. J. Rath

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Dad Morgan stands leaning against the corner fence of his back yard, watching the approach of two riders. There are his daughters, Sally, and an eccentric young assistant, who is visiting the ranch to recuperate from a nervous breakdown. The visitor is known as the Nervous Wreck, for short—and is a hopeless tenderfoot.

Dad tells Sally that Bob Wells, her fiancé, will be unable to escort her to the train next morning. She is disappointed. Sally has been educated in the east and "knows the ways of places far beyond the range," as Dad says. Dad Morgan ranch is a rather small one, and there is an air of isolation about it. "It is a ranch taking a long and honest rest. The boys are here behind it."

KNOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"I ain't got any kick," mused Dad. "I got mine enough, anyhow. Let the rest of you boys and gals come into their reformation yet. Only I'm sure sorry that Sally's going to miss her train."

So was Sally. But, true to Dad's mental prediction, she did not say much about it, even to Bob Wells, who had ridden twenty miles to explain and would have to ride back again that night. Bob was the sheriff. He was other things besides a sheriff, though that was much the most important in a material way. He had cattle of his own, and a couple of mining claims just promised, and he owned a general store at the county seat. Dad Morgan said there wasn't a more likely young hustler in all Montana than Bob Wells. And when Bob took to calling on Sally, Dad felt that the future was working itself out in a proper and prosperous fashion.

As nearly as Dad could figure it out, in the absence of direct information, Sally was going East to see about things for her troupe. Anyhow, the sheriff seemed to be certain enough about it, and Sally made no denial. She had known Bob Wells since the first rodeo her own pony, as a little girl, and she was sure that she and he did not encounter any surprise in the idea of marrying him.

"I reckon," said Dad, as he glanced up from his supper, "that Bob's got more than maybe anybody else around these parts."

The sheriff winked as he reached for the coffee pot and helped himself to another cup. He was a large, healthy and well-pleased young man, with a slightly boisterous air, even in moments of repose.

Ma Morgan nodded, but made no comment. Ma was never very talkative; ordinarily she contented herself with confirmatory nods, the opinions and conclusions of others usually being sufficient for her.

"If it wasn't for the fact that there'd be no way of getting the horse back, I'd ride over soon," said Sally.

"No chance," declared the sheriff. "Look! Why not? Why, Bob, I've done it. I rode as far as the railroad last summer and I know every inch of the trail. And it's only about thirty-five miles."

"Well, I wouldn't let you ride alone. Besides, there'll have to be a pack horse to take your traps. You can't manage everything, Sally."

Sally thought he could, and she felt a faint resentment at the contrary implication. But she had no intention of arguing with him; he was always positive about things.

"Did you want to go to the railroad tomorrow?"

It was the Wreck speaking. All through supper he had been eating with a silent voraciousness that caused Dad Morgan to wonder if there were any nerves in the stomach.

Milady's Week-End Bag Should Not Be Crowded With Things Unnecessary

ONE of the pleasures of a week-end trip is knowing that your wardrobe is smart and well chosen. The great outdoors, exercise, relaxation, are important, to be sure, but clothes are part of these and we cannot leave them out. They go right along helping or hindering the feeling of well being induced by charms of the seashore or mountains.

There are but few changes of attire needed for the week-end suitcase to contain the prettiest things a girl possesses. Nevertheless, if they are not chosen with their fitness in mind there is sure to be a disappointment. Careful planning! That's the remedy.

Picture yourself in the surrounding hills you are going to be in. See yourself doing the various things that are going to make up your program and then select what to take on the week-end trip. Perhaps a pretty frock will have to be left home because it does not fit into that mental picture, but the middle blouse or sweater that takes its place will be more than pretty. It will be appropriate.

If you take but one suitcase every inch of space is precious and packing the right things and then packing them so they will arrive without creases or with but a few that will shake out or disappear with a few deft touches of the iron. The right paper ought to be used generously. Stuff it lightly into creases and lay soft pads of it in the creases and your dresses will come out of the suitcase with few wrinkles. It is worth the time it takes.

Unless your week-end trip is to include an evening of dancing or some other formal affair you will not have to worry about a fashionable dress to wear a great deal about the care of a delicate frock. The frock you travel in will serve for any dress up occasion, leaving your suitcase free for rugged clothing such as bathing suit or hiking clothes, with a sweater and skirt to wear between times.

But it is always a good plan to make a pretty dress frock and its accessories, even though the possibility of wearing it seems what you need. In these days automobiles suggest many important parties. Some one wants to dance, some one knows of a new place, with the best orchestra ever and immediately everyone thinks of dancing as the most interesting of all things to do. Wrap your dance frock with tissue paper, first putting pads of it between the layers of the skirt. It will not hurt it to go on a week-end trip, and the point is it will be there if one should need it.

MRS. EMMETT ENTERTAINMENT CIRCLE
Circle Ten of the Ladies Auxiliary of the First Baptist church held a most interesting and helpful meeting at the home of Mrs. C. E. Harhart in the Model addition.

The devotional services were led by Mrs. W. P. Irwin, after which an interesting denunciation lesson on baptism was conducted by Mrs. Harhart. The chairman, Mrs. J. H. Warren, held a brief business session after which the ladies enjoyed a social hour. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Those present were Mrs. S. E. White, Mrs. J. H. Warren, Mrs. W. P. Irwin, Mrs. L. M. Goldsmith and little daughter, Ruby Lee, Mrs. C. A. Caffee and little daughter, Mrs. Frank Walker, Mrs. J. Deserts Stage For Antique Shop

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Get a hobby and ride it hard if you want to be happy, psychologists and physicalists advise.

"Ride it hard enough and it may turn into a fine job," says Mabel Tallaferro, who has just started her friends by forsaking the stage to open an antique shop in Greenwich Village.

"But I certainly never needed any urging to follow my natural inclination to buy up antiques," she explains. "What I needed, probably, was a restraint. For 15 years now, I have been collecting until I have two houses stuffed with them from garret to cellar. Something had to be done. Either I had to buy another house or go into business. So I chose the latter."

Forced Into It
It wasn't entirely a matter of choice. She was also shoved into it. Because of her ability to scour the country for some particular piece of curio, map and her persistence in searching down old prints, her possessions were always in demand and her friends practically forced her into selling as well as collecting.

"Now the stage becomes my hobby and the collecting becomes my job," she laughed. "I don't say that I am never going to act again, because I would tomorrow if I got a part I really wanted to do, but I would continue my shop and if I were sent out on the road, I would make every town yield up some treasure for it."

"I believe most women would rather buy antiques from a shop than to get them first hand. They haven't confidence in their ability to distinguish good things from bad. My own criterion is simply, whether it pleases me or not."

Husband a Partner
"I have no feeling for an old chair or desk merely because of its age. It must have beauty as well. It must have gained something through use and association that a new piece cannot have, otherwise I should get new things that people must sacrifice through misfortune or change of circumstances."

"In time I am going to specialize on old prints, booklets and period furniture. And I want to find good, appreciative buyers for lovely old articles."

A Plea to Men
Please Keep Your Hair By Edna Wallace Hopper
You men admire luxury, hair, thick and lustrous, healthy, clean. And so do we, dear sirs. Then, why will you, through sheer neglect, let your hair disappear?

My hair is finer than 40 years ago. It grows thicker every year. I have never known falling hair or dandruff, and never a touch of gray. Just because I searched the world for the best hair help. And I had them combined in a tonic and cleanser which I call Hair Youth. From Edna Wallace Hopper, Photo 1923 better help discovered has been added to it.

I believe the experts I consult know all that is known about hair. I know they supply me their utmost. Certainly no factors ever discovered have brought finer hair than mine. Now I offer you, as I offer women, this supreme help for the hair. It is concentrated. You apply it with a syringe directly to the scalp. There it combats the hardened oil and dandruff which so stifle the hair roots. It tones and stimulates. Then hair thrives just as flowers thrive in a well-kept garden.

I know that here I place at your command the greatest hair help in existence. Not some fallacious theory, not some ordinary tonic, but the best that science has discovered, as far as I can find.

All druggists and toilet counters supply my Hair Youth under guarantee. The first package brings you help you seek, or I will pay the cost. The cost is 50 cents and $1 with each dropper. Let me urge you to try it. We women—all of us—love to see heavy, healthy hair. And I have found the way.

I will send you a bottle to try with out cost if you will mail this coupon to me.

100 NICKELS THROWN TO YOUNG SWIMMERS
YOUNK, Aug. 8.—Quite a sensation was created among the youthful swimmers at one of Young's two training resorts Sunday afternoon when the management threw 100 coins. All nickels, into the pool after announcing that anybody could have and keep all they could get. The event was the first of its kind to be held here and was staged at McCord's concrete pool, the site of a tourist camp.

ALTER WALK FOR GIRL
EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 8.—Because crippled little Mildred Lima, 10, couldn't propel her wheel chair over three high spots of curbing between her home and school, the city council took immediate action to have the curbing changed to inclines.

Certain diseases may be forewarned by marks in the eye, according to a French scientist.

WELL SELECTED SUMMER MENUS

Canned Lunches: Meat, Lettuce, Bread, Potato Salad, Butter

Cookies: Grape Juice, Cold Boiled Ham, Cabbage Slaw, Cherry Tart, Coffee

Cheese Souffle: French Fried Potatoes, Lettuce, Butter, Baked Apple, Milk

Tomato Soup with Crackers, Scrambled Eggs, Baked Potatoes, Hot Biscuits, Butter, Jelly, Coffee or Milk

Cheese Souffle
Two tablespoons butter; 3 tablespoons flour; 1-2 cup scalded milk; 1-2 level teaspoon salt; 1-4 cup grated American cheese; 3 eggs; speck of cayenne.

Melt the butter, add the flour and when well mixed add gradually the scalded milk, then add salt, cayenne and cheese. Remove from the fire and add the yolks of the eggs, beaten until lemon colored. Cool the mixture and fold into it the whites beaten until stiff. Pour into the buttered baking dish and cook 20 minutes in a slow oven. Serve at once.

Cheese soufflé is suitable as the main dish for luncheon, dinner or Saturday night supper.

Cherry Tart
One cup berries; 1 egg; 1 cup sugar; 1-2 level teaspoon orange rind; 1-2 cup chopped nuts. Chop the cherries, add the beaten egg, sugar, finely rolled crackers, lemon juice, orange rind and chopped nuts. Cut circles of pastry 6 to 7 inches in diameter, put a tablespoonful of the mixture on each, moisten the edges with water and press together with a fork, forming a "turnover." Bake in quick oven.

HONDURAN REBELS LOOT TOWN, KILL 9
WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(Reuter) soldiers in Honduras looted the town of San Marcos yesterday and killed nine persons, says a message received by the state department today from Franklin E. Morales, the American minister at Tegucigalpa.

The message further states that Danilo has not yet been attacked and that Tegucigalpa is patrolled at night by armed civilians to ward off possible attack.

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHERTON TO HEATRICE GRIMSHAW
Of course I didn't get a minute of time to say anything I wanted to you while you were here, Bee, dear. Sometimes I think that when any one writes as frankly and sincerely as you and I to each other, a friendship of long standing is on safer ground than when one depends upon hurried visits when so many other things have to come between.

I am quite sure you never have looked forward to something superlatively blissful. I'm quite sure that in your sensible mind you have known that marriage is really only a business partnership by which two people of presumably the same tastes and station in society, pledge themselves to help carry on the race. If you look for only this you will probably get much more.

There, you didn't think that Sally would say this to you, did you? I've always known that this is the true meaning of marriage, Bee, and that is why I have always fought against it. I don't want children. I'm selfish enough to want complete freedom. If I go to the devil I want to go in my own way without taking anybody with me. Consequently, I always chafed against my marriage with Sam, even when I was presumptuously, to my friends, most content with it.

Some women are not made for marriage, my dear, just as some women are not made to be writers of advertising copy or private secretaries or school teachers or boarding-house keepers. Marriage, which sets upon men much more easily than it does upon women, can be taken up by them as a kind of sideline, but for us it is not only a life work, but pretty nearly our life's only recreation.

Don't smile, Lee. Marriage and weddings always affect me thus way, and I don't want to think about marrying myself, neither do I want to see my friends' weddings. I wish they would not invite me, and I don't like them. I can't say that I would wish that I had never married, for I think every woman should have that great experience. But I'm glad my experience is over, and I can settle back into doing just the things I want to do in just the way I want to do them.

Perhaps I'm a little more antagonistic to the whole matter today than ever, because I am afraid our poor friend Leslie has come a cropper. Some dirty dog—and between you and me I think it's some one very near dear Bee—wrote an anonymous letter to Mr. Preston about an old lover of hers, some one who had known her since childhood, who it seems gave her a present of a fabulous string of pearls and told her that they were imitation. Rather romantic, that!

Leslie, poor child, was always glib, and accepted them in the same spirit that they were given in. In fact, I think she didn't know that this Karl Whitney gave them to her at all, but thought that her sister was the donor.

SOMETHING NEW IN THE MENU

New Recipes Being Tried Out for Summer

"What shall we eat for dinner to day?" sighs the perplexed housewife when the mercury begins to climb steadily upward. Now that the fine warm days are here she appreciates suggestions which will aid in planning attractive meals for appetites which have begun to lag.

Hot dishes will have their appeal at breakfast, lunch and dinner. Hot waffles for breakfast, baked beans and brown bread, and a delicious home-made beef stein with dumplings such as only Mother can make, can not help but tempt the most finicky eater.

At present many are trying out new recipes brought home from the cooking school, the club luncheon or perhaps borrowed from their best friend. Planning good things for the children when they arrive home for the vacation weeks and even for house-cleaning days is taking up considerable of Mother's time just now.

She has not forgotten that some one's favorite is chocolate fudge cake or that one of the children is particularly fond of put cookies, or but ter scotch pie. Just such thoughts are going on in hundreds of mother's minds.

What pleasure is it for her to plan things to please her family? And, possibly just at the last minute before the dressmaker comes to the house for the annual spring sewing week, the housewife remembers something that would please her.

Lunches and dinners, then, at this time of the year when everyone glances guiltily at having spring fever rather than to plan, but crisp, cool, inviting shade with some delicious, fluffy piping hot, baking powder biscuits, strawberries and fresh cake for dessert seem actually to melt in one's mouth. So really, why does anyone find it hard to think of what to serve?

Possibly the housewife who gets discouraged, if she will check up on what she has served of late will find she has gotten into some kind of a rut and has been repeating week after week the same old stand-by dishes. Why not try something new? It will not only prove interesting to her in preparing, but to the rest of the family as well.

BUTTER SCOTCH ROLLS

4 cups sifted bread flour
5 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
7-8 cup shortening

Filling
1 cup granulated sugar
4 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup second raisins
1-2 cup chopped nut meats
1-2 teaspoon nutmeg or
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Bottoms of Pans
1 cup brown sugar
1-2 cup butter and 1-2 cup vegetable shortening

Before mixing dough, prepare butter and sugar mixture for bottom of pans, selecting two round pans about one and one-fourth inches deep, and spread evenly over bottom. Then prepare filling.

For filling sift together the dry ingredients, add sugar and blend together with tips of fingers, then add raisins and nut meats. Currants are also good. To soften the raisins, soak for a short time in hot water, or steam for a few minutes.

In making the foundation proceed the same as for baking powder biscuits, dough, roll to about one-half inch or less in thickness, and spread with filling. Roll as one would a jelly roll and slice with sharp knife dipped in flour. The slices should be about three-fourths of an inch thick. Place cut ends up in pan, laying close together but not crowding. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.), twenty-five minutes. Turn pans upside down on a flat surface as soon as taken from the oven.

BOYS SHOULD BE GOOD COOKS

Powers of Observation De- veloped in Cooking

Why should boys know how to cook? From the practical point of view, there are many times when the ability to get a meal will be most welcome. In the daughterless family, when mother is ill or away, why should not father and the boys be able to prepare breakfast, at least—and to leave the kitchen in good order afterwards?

From an educational point of view, learning to cook develops certain powers of observation, and sense of taste and smell, and an appreciation of the ingenuity and skill it takes to turn out a finished meal at the right time.

Many men take pride in the way they can manage a camping party—building and keeping the fire, frying the bacon, boiling the coffee and even flipping the flapjacks or baking biscuits. But this efficiency is often lost when they enter the doors of their homes.

Meal preparation has been made easy for us by the food manufacturers. If our emergency shelf is well stocked, a balanced meal can be achieved with a can opener and some sauce-pans.

For breakfast, prunes from the can, corn flakes from the package, coffee balls from the can, toast, and coffee will form a satisfying meal—for lunch, canned vegetable soup, canned wench cabbage or crackers, tea, and crisp cookies from a tin box. For dinner, open a can of assorted hors d'oeuvres if you wish to stimulate the appetite. The main course may be creamed chicken, macaroni with cheese, baked beans, kippered herring or cold tongue—all of which come canned. Round this out with a can of lima beans (to take the place of potatoes) and a can of spinach. For dessert there is nothing better than a can of mixed fruit which has been thoroughly chilled.

Knowledge of right combinations

ALWAYS SERVE A VEGETABLE

Meals Should Not Contain Too Much Starch

Never serve a meal that contains too much starch or sugar. Never serve a meal without at least one vegetable, and especially during the summer season, a green vegetable. Try to have fruit on the table, too. If not fresh fruit, you can get excellent canned fruits at the grocery.

Are you serving plenty of sea foods? Fish can be bought at very reasonable prices, and can be cooked deliciously. Health authorities now say that sea foods contain small quantities of iodine, and iodine is declared to be a certain preventative of goitre.

It is a fact that women and girls who live near the ocean are seldom afflicted with goitre, while girls in our inland, middle-west cities have this trouble in larger numbers. So see that your household is supplied with fish, shrimp, oysters, etc.

Thousands of housewives are turning to good old-fashioned oatmeal as a highly nutritious and delicious food for their families. It costs much less than any other food, and its health qualities are exceedingly high.

Facts From Scientists
We asked the scientists in the laboratories of the Quaker Oats company to supply us with the facts regarding oatmeal. They have furnished us with the following information:

Oatmeal contains 1500 calories of nutriment per pound while round steak yields 850 calories.

You may be surprised to know that one pound of oatmeal equals twenty-five cents in energy, nutriment, and is 50 per cent cheaper in energy value than bread.

Oatmeal contains 16 food elements in various proportions. This cereal contains minerals, such as iron, lime and phosphate. Doctors now find that many children lack these elements because they are getting the wrong foods.

Good for Children
Oatmeal is one-ninth protein, the body builder. It is a laxative food, and everybody likes its taste. As a food for children, nothing else compares, and as a food it has aged fame.

Because of these qualities, we recommend oatmeal as a daily part of your household diet. Its low cost makes it highly practical. When you think that a pound box of oatmeal is equal to 25 eggs—you realize how exceedingly economical this strength food is.

The Quick-Quaker oats, now sold in all grocery stores, are the same oats that the world has been eating for many years. These new oats cook in three to five minutes, no longer than it takes to make the coffee.

There are many delicious dishes that the ambitious housewife prepares with oatmeal. If you are not serving oatmeal in its many tasty forms at your table, you should begin now to do so.

THEY don't look it, but in one respect they are similar: both supply calories and produce energy. What coal is to the steam engine, sugar is to that more complicated engine, the human body. Coal converted into heat by combustion makes steam. Sugar converted into energy by the digestive processes makes muscular power. Men and women who work, and children who play, need sugar just as the locomotive needs coal, and for much the same reason.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

No. 2—THE TWINS VISIT THE LIONS

Then forward—march!" said Weeny.

The first people I am going to visit on my vacation," said Weeny, the elephant, to the Twins, "are Mister and Mrs. Lion. I knew them in the circus."

"All right," said Nancy and Nick happily. "We're all ready."

"Have you got my suitcase?" asked Weeny. "It can't go visiting with me, my nightgown and my toothbrush and my spectacles."

"We have them all right," said Nick.

"Then forward—march!" said Weeny, and away he went with his four big paddy feet, and switching the little tail behind him.

"Hooray!" cried Nick.

"Hooray!" cried Nancy.

They were as happy as the king and queen of Timbuctoo.

Pretty soon they came to the rock house of the lion family, Mister and Mrs. Lion and their sons, Cubby, Tubby and Hubby.

And the lions were just sitting down to lunch.

"How do you do," said Mister Lion. "You're just in time. We have crocodile wings and guinea pig tails."

"It must have his joke," said Mrs. Lion apologetically. "Don't pay any attention to him. Boys, behave your manners and get up and set some chairs for the company."

So Cubby and Tubby and Hubby jumped up and unblocked their paws from underneath their chairs and set three chairs at the table.

"Do sit down," begged Mrs. Lion. "Nancy and Nick had no trouble at all, but Weeny felt most awkward."

Put at last he got himself fixed, and everybody began to pass things this way and that, until it looked like a game of "Button—button—who's got the button?"

"Things tasted pretty good, for, being circus folk, Mister and Mrs. Lion had become used to all sorts of dainties, and Mrs. Lion was a good cook."

"It's a nice day," said Weeny, reaching for another biscuit at the other end of the table with his long trunk.

"Fine!" roared Mister Lion, wiping his moustache with the tassel on his tail and forgetting all about the napkin around his neck.

"Fie!" said Mrs. Lion, shocked at his manners.

"Excuse me, ma," grinned Mister Lion. "But I must have my little joke."

Weeny reached for another biscuit right over Nick's head.

Just then Cubby Lion also, and Tubby Lion of his chair just for fun.

"Boys, boys!" roared their daddy so loudly that you would have wondered where the thunder was coming from.

Weeny took advantage of this rum-pus to reach over Nancy's head with his trunk and drink up all of Cubby's and Tubby's soup.

And after that, the minute anything began to talk, Weeny reached for something. First thing you know there wasn't a thing left.

"Her! Where's my dinner?" roared Mrs. Lion.

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Uncle RAY

GETTING MARRIED IN THE MIDDLE AGES

Dukes, counts and other nobles of the Middle Ages claimed the right to give their daughters away in marriage. The young women were not supposed to have any choice in the matter.

The father of a damsel might say, "I have a daughter to marry the Baron."

Usually, it was a month ahead. Even the ladies of castles and palaces were in the habit of doing useful work. They spun thread and wove cloth.

In the time of King Alfred, English women began to call their spinning wheel "the spinning half." The men were called "the weaving half."

Both of our pictures were made by artists of the Middle Ages. One of them shows a woman "carding" wool. That means she is combing it so as to get out the tangles before thread is made.

The other picture shows a woman spinning thread with the aid of a wheel. It is queer what a large wheel was in use at that time.

Married women had to spend a good deal of time with their children.

Wool had to be combed out before it could be spun into thread. So did flax.

Arthur, or "Mory," you shall wed the young Count Joseph.

The daughters were expected to bow to the father's will. In most cases it seems they did; but now and then, there was a slip in the father's plans. His daughter would run away and marry a man she loved.

I am glad to say that some fathers were thoughtful enough to say to a suitor:

"You may marry my daughter, if she is willing."

Before a marriage took place, there was a "betrothal." That was very much like the "engagement" of the present time, but it was more formal. It was a ceremony performed, by a priest. In some cases, it came only a few days before the marriage itself.

This looks like a mighty big wheel for spinning thread.

Maidens, on the other hand, were at the spinning wheel so much that they were called "spinsters."

Except when there were feasts or dances, people in castles went to bed at 9 o'clock. There were no electric or gas lights, and it was not much fun to read by dim oil lamps. So it was, "Early to bed and early to rise."

A Pretty House

his father was the caretaker, so they lived in the pretty vine-covered cottage.

No one was home when they came up, though they called and called. Betty was sorry, because she wanted to meet Roger's sister. They found the back door open, so Roger went in and changed from his dirty flannel clothes.

"We have to go home, because he's getting late," said Betty. "Come take us a piece down the road."

So Roger and Betty and Billy started down the road together.

Color Roger's knickerbockers tan and his high shoes brown. Put brown checks in his cap and make his sweater red.

MEDAL FOR WALES

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The Albert Medal for 1934 has been awarded to the Prince of Wales by the Royal Society of Arts in recognition of services he has rendered to arts, manufactures and commerce as president of the British Empire Exhibition. The Albert medal has been conferred in the past on three other members of the royal family—Queen Victoria, King Edward and King George.

ROOSTER KILLS CAT

KINGSTON, N. C., Aug. 8.—Hostile warfare between a cat and a rooster at the home of Jack Howard here ended in the death of the cat recently. Howard separated the fighter and went into the house to get first-aid materials for the cat. When he returned, he found that the rooster had renewed the hostilities and killed the cat.

"What a pretty little house!" cried Betty Cut-out as Roger led them up the winding walk to the gardener's house on the big estate. Roger said:

GIRL FORGETS NAME, FAMILY

Suffering From Aphasia; Found by Father

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Four months ago, Florence Louise Adams, 21 years old, struck her head against a parlor car chair as a Pennsylvania train from Baltimore drew into Philadelphia, where she lived in McClellan street.

This afternoon Harry L. Adams, leather merchant and member of Philadelphia's Union League Club, walked into the business office of the New York American, threw his arms around the daughter he had not seen in four months, and exclaimed: "You are my missing daughter—I'm your father."

The girl, who has suffered from aphasia since the train incident, merely glanced up and said: "Didn't know him."

"Really, I don't know you. I am Miss June Johnson."

Half an hour later, after her prosperous father had recounted the days of her childhood and the fruitless search he had made for her since she disappeared, the girl said:

"The sorry, very sorry. But I don't recall any of that, or you either."

A moment later, in the pleasant manner of youth, she said, laughing: "What a funny mistake you have."

Nevertheless Florence Louise Adams, at her father's request, resumed her position on the New York American, drew the money she had saved and took an afternoon train to Philadelphia with him. Before leaving she said:

"Of course, I'll go home, if you say I'm your daughter. But I remember nothing, since last March."

It was March 22 that she struck her head on the parlor car seat. She remembers a porter dashing cold water into her face. "Then I recall crossing a ferry into New York," she added.

Soon after, with $50 in her pocket, she obtained work on the American.

When Magee Was in Jail

Photographers were not permitted to take pictures of Carl C. Magee, editor of the New Mexico State Tribune, when he was in the county jail at Las Vegas, N. M. But here is a sketch an NEA Service artist made from a description furnished by newspaper men who visited the "fighting" editor in America, after Judge David Leahy had sent him to a cell for contempt of court. The flowers were only a few of those Magee received from friends and admirers.

KANSAS WILDCAT IS TESTING INTERESTING

SYRACUSE, Kan., Aug. 5.—One of the most interesting wildcat tests drilling in Kansas at this time is that going down in the northwest of 520-41v, thirteen miles southwest of Syracuse and eleven miles from the Colorado line, in Hamilton county. It is being drilled by W. S. McClure and is centrally located in a block of 20,000 acres. It is now drilling below 300 feet and is on the Syracuse home, on a structure mapped by N. H. Darton of the United States Geological survey.

This test is 175 miles southwest of the Russell county field and 150 miles north of the Texas Panhandle field. The nearest production is at Liberal.

BASTROP COUNTY IS FREE OF FEVER TICKS

BASTROP, Aug. 5.—Students in this section are very gratified over the splendid condition of range stock, which is largely due to the absence of ticks. In past years, and especially at this season of the year, the tick infection in this section caused much loss to cattle.

Dr. J. Stotick, with the Bureau of Animal Industry and in charge of tick eradication work in Bastrop county, states that practically half of the cats over the county have been closed with clean states.

HOPKINS FARMER GETS $4,000 FOR CROP

SALT LAKE, Texas, Aug. 5.—W. H. Greer of Hopkins county is known as the largest and most extensive grower of Alberta peaches of any one in Northern Texas. He has just finished loading ten cars of peaches and will have several more before the season ends.

He now has 60 acres of bearing cherries and will have another 50 acres orchard that will bear next year, at an average of 400 bushels to the acre. Mr. Greer has sold over $4,000 worth of peaches this season and will market over $10,000 worth of peaches yet before the season ends.

GEORGE P. ELBERT TO BE UNOPPOSED

DENTON, Aug. 5.—G. C. Yarbrough, who took second place in the tax assessor's race in the democratic primary July 28, announces that he will withdraw from the race, leaving his opponent, George P. Elbert, unopposed. Elbert led the ticket by over $600 votes and Yarbrough stated that he would concede the election to Elbert on such a lead and that he did not care to make the race against a man who received so many votes. There were four men in the race.

M'KINNEY TAXABLE VALUES INCREASED

M'KINNEY, Aug. 5.—The McKinney city commission, sitting as an equalization board, has completed its work for the present year. Taxable values for 1923 were $5,945,390.00, while for 1924 they are $6,925,390.00, a gain of $770,000.00.

BRYAN'S NAME NOT ON BALLOT

Progressives Stand Pat and Withhold Wheeler

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The name of Senator Wheeler of Montana will appear on the ballot with Senator LaFollette in every state, managers of the LaFollette campaign here declared, dismissing as of no importance reports that some of LaFollette's supporters in Montana were seeking to substitute Charles W. Bryan, democratic vice presidential nominee, for Wheeler in that state.

Robert M. LaFollette Jr., explaining that arrangements for placing the independent ticket on ballots was entirely in the hands of Chicago headquarters, in charge of Representative Nelson of Wisconsin, said that no word had been received from Nelson of the move to couple Bryan instead of Wheeler with LaFollette in Wheeler's home state and that unless Nelson showed concern over the situation no attention would be paid to reports of disavowal.

"We have been notified that arrangements have been made in Montana to put the LaFollette-Wheeler ticket in the field," said LaFollette, who is vice chairman of the committee managing his father's campaign. "We are satisfied that nothing will occur to prevent it from going on the ballot there or in any other state."

SAFETY COMMITTEE NAMED BY MAYOR

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 5.—Mayor P. O. Lovelock has appointed a city plan and safety committee, the principal work of which will be to consider the means of eliminating traffic difficulties. Several accidents occurred last week, the most serious resulting in the death of two men when a large closed car crashed into a small coupe. The committee will consider ways and means to reduce the number of accidents.

MOVIE IDEA IN ARMY TRAINING

Officers Find Plenty to Do
At C. M. T. C.

FORT SAN HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 8.—The principle of the motion picture action all the time has been applied to the schedule of the Citizens' Military Training camp, now in full swing at Fort San Houston.

Brigadier General Preston Brown, commanding, believes that the way to teach a youth to swim is to put him in the water—under close observation and protection, of course. That is just what is being done in a military sense, with the 1100 and more young men just transformed from "civies" to army olive drab.

COTTON NEARS NORMAL STAND

Report Issued in Compliance
With New Acts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The condition of the cotton crop on August 1 was 67.4 per cent of normal, compared with 65.3 per cent on July 16, forecasting a product on this year of 1,250,000 bales of 500 pounds gross, the department of agriculture reported today.

Last year the production was 10,125,478 bales.

The report today was the first ever issued on cotton for August 1, and was issued in compliance with an act passed by congress at its last session. Hitherto, the cotton reports have been based on estimates made at 30 days intervals of the 15th of the month.

Cotton ginned from the 1934 crop up to August 1 totaled 21,924 running bales, counting round bales as half bales, compared with 64,351 bales up to August 1 last year.

LIBRARIES CONGESTED

E. W. WINKLER REPORTS

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 8.—E. W. Winkler, librarian of the University of Texas, who was recently authorized by the board of regents to inspect library buildings of the leading universities and colleges of the country, made a smaller trip last winter. On that occasion he visited the libraries of the University of Chicago, Northwestern university, the University of Illinois, Washington university at St. Louis, the University of Missouri, the University of Kansas, the University of Oklahoma. Of these libraries, the first three are the most congested, he said. Chicago university and Northwestern university see no relief, but the University of Illinois has plans providing for the erection of a new building which will furnish room for about five million volumes. It will be the largest college library in America. The plan for this new building was drawn by Professor White of the University of Illinois faculty. He is the consulting architect for the University of Texas and is very much interested in the building problems here.

INDIAN LAD CHAMP

ARCHER OF TRIBE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Lonnie Star, head and arrow of the Gila River Indian tribe, is one of the most accurate archers of his nation, according to reports to the Indian department. He uses a bow of arrowwood, with which the late Chief Three Bears shot his game in the Rocky mountains fifty years ago.

Lonnie Star is a full-blooded Blackfoot and evidently inherited the bow and arrow skills from his buffalo hunting ancestors.

He can kill more rabbits with a metal-pointed arrow than a great many city boys could bag with an open bore 12-gauge shot gun.

SUMMER TERM ENDS

AT HOWARD PAYNE

BROWNWOOD, Aug. 8.—The Howard Payne summer normal will close Friday evening of this week and at that time Dr. George W. McCall, pastor of the First Baptist church at San Angelo, will deliver the commencement address at Howard Payne auditorium. Dean Thomas H. Taylor stated today that the present session of school had been most satisfactory in every respect. The next regular session of Howard Payne college will open September 2.

VETERAN DENVER

AUTHOR IS DEAD

DENVER, Aug. 8.—Joseph M. Ward, veteran newspaper man and author, died here today as a result of an attack of apoplexy.

FOWLS HALF TURKEY

AND HALF CHICKEN

BROWNWOOD, Aug. 8.—The McGarrity of this place, has six birds which are half turkey and half chicken—a turkey gobbler and Plymouth Rock hen being the proud parents. The offspring are in fine health, growing rapidly and resemble both sides of the ancestral house—long neck and head of the turkey, with other parts of the body resembling that of a chicken.

WHEELER'S PARTNER CAMPAIGN LEADER

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Appointment of James H. Baldwin of Butte, Montana, as partner of Senator Wheeler, as Montana manager of the La Follette-Wheeler campaign was announced by Representative John M. Nelson, national manager.

Mr. Nelson stated that the campaign in Montana will be confined exclusively to the effort to elect presidential electors and Mr. Baldwin would have no part in any campaign for state or local offices.

FIGHT MAY GO TO U. S. SENATE

Jack Walton Certain of Demo Nomination

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 8.—Jack Walton's bitter fight against the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma bids fair to go to the United States senate for its decisive battle.

With next enough precincts in the state primary election held Tuesday, unopposed to materially change the results, Walton today was certain of his nomination as democratic candidate for the United States senate. Latest returns this morning swelled the ousted governor's majority to nearly 7,500 and the few remaining precincts to be reported are expected to swell his total even greater.

L. B. Howard, Klan endorser, declared this morning he would not concede defeat to Walton until the official count was made.

HOLY YEAR LIKELY TO BE POSTPONED

ROME, Aug. 8.—Postponement of the Holy year celebration to 1930 is not improbable says the newspaper Secolo today, owing to delays in preparing for the ecclesiastical council, in which more than 600 bishops from all parts of the world will participate. By a postponement for a 12 month the Holy year would coincide with the centennial of St. Francis of Assisi, which also will be celebrated in 1930.

EPWORTH LEAGUES TO PRESENT PLAY

SHERMAN, Aug. 8.—Members of the Epworth League Union of Sherman and Denison have completed arrangements for a play which will be given in the auditorium of Central High school on Tuesday evening. The proceeds will be used to help defray expenses of Epworth League delegates to the Mount Sequeah Epworth League Assembly, near Fayetteville, Ark.

PASTOR A FIREMAN

ANALOGY: GETS 'EM

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 8.—The organizing of a fire department to organize a fire department was discussed at the national interchurch rural conference here. The plan was employed by the Rev. P. B. Ford of Sparan, N. Y. "Serve the community and the community will come to church," was the Rev. Mr. Ford's slogan. He became a fire chief to convince the people of his country, which had no fire department, that they wanted to protect their homes.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT

IS DANGEROUSLY ILL

LEXINGTON, Va., Aug. 8.—Dr. Henry Louis Smith, president of Washington and Lee University here, is in a "grave condition," at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, friends were advised today.

PAVILION COLLAPSES

11 NEGROES DROWNED

BUCKEYE LAKE, Ohio, August 8.—Seven bodies have been recovered and four persons are missing in the wreckage of a dance pavilion which collapsed into Buckeye Lake here last night during the annual ball of the negro Elks of Ohio.

Scores of dancers were precipitated into the water when a section of the flooring of the pavilion parted.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels

"California Fig Syrup" is Dependable Laxative for Sick Children

Children Love Its Pleasant Taste

If your little one is out-of-sorts, won't play, seems sick, languid, not natural—suspect the "owels"! A teaspoonful of delicious "California Fig Syrup" given anytime sweetens the stomach and soon moves the sour fermentations, gases, poisons and indigestible matter right out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers depend upon this gentle, harmless laxative, never cramps or overacts. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits. Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages plainly printed on bottle.

VAN SWERINGEN

Oris P. and Minnie J. Van Sweringen are from the C. school of hard knocks.

Lived in Cleveland

"After selling papers in Geneva, the two boys and their mother moved to Cleveland some 20 years ago. The boys went to work as office boys. Their mother died about that time.

From office boys they advanced to clerks in a real estate office.

There they saw the profit to be realized from speculative investment. After manipulating with small lots they finally had an opportunity to purchase 2,000 acres on the outskirts of Cleveland. They did this with borrowed capital.

Seeing the need of a tram system in the subdivision they applied to the Cleveland railroad and were met with a few laughs. That was where the Van Sweringens railroad control started. The two boys built their own tram system.

Installed Tram System

The subdivision and the tram system proved profitable and within a few years the two Van Sweringens were wealthy. This wealth was added to in 1910 the Van Sweringens first became known in railroad circles through the purchase of the Nickel-plate system.

Then they visualized to merger which would give two eastern outlets—New York and Newport News—to such cities as Chicago, Cleveland, St. Louis, Peoria, Toledo and Detroit.

Both under 45 years old, they apparently have made good their visualization.

By terms of the merger just completed there will be two classes of stock, six per cent cumulative preferred and six per cent common stock.

The general terms are:
Terms of Merger
Eric first and second preferred, 50 per cent in preferred stock of new company; Eric common, 40 per cent in new common stock.
Pere Marquette preferred, 90 per cent in new preferred stock giving the holder that the 40 per cent return instead of five per cent for preferred stock 100 per cent in new preferred bearing 6 per cent interest of five, common stock 55 per cent in new common.

Chesapeake and Ohio 6 1/2 per cent stock, 15 per cent in new preferred giving 6.30 per cent instead of 6.50; common stock, 55 per cent in new preferred and 55 per cent in new common.

Hocking Valley common, 50 per cent in new preferred and 50 in new common yielding six per cent instead of four.

For Nickelplate common and preferred, equal amounts of the new stock.

Nickelplate holds large blocks of Chesapeake and Ohio and Pere Marquette stock. It will continue as the holding company, having disposed of its fixed property to the new company. It is understood.

According to Wall Street, the Van

Sweringens boys don't intend to stop with this one merger.

Ultimately they desire to establish an eastern terminal and connect this with a western terminal.

COPIES OF BOOKLET MAILED BY C. OF C.

Every member of the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping is being mailed today a copy of the new 32-page illustrated booklet, just off the press depicting Port Arthur's potentialities and assets.

A letter is included with the booklet from Manager Burge asking the member to acquaint himself with the contents so as to be able to "sell" Port Arthur on every occasion. Special envelopes with red captions telling the receiver what to expect are being used in the mailing of the booklet.

White satin wraps for evening are handed with white fox and lined with white chiffon.
